The fast paced life of you, with a tired return home, at this point you want to get a peaceful and recuperative night sleep.

Your bed is the harbor of relaxation and rest after one days' exhaustion. A high quality mattress can bring you good rest and make you feel refreshed the next morning.

The excellent design of the mattress core enables overall supporting experience and comfortable sleep for your body.

Unicased Series

A level of luxury, support and durability that only Sealy Posturepedic can provide. Experience the world famous support, premium comfort systems and enduring quality, only the UNICASED COLLECTION from Sealy Posturepedic can offer.

POSTURETECH SENSE AND RESPOND COIL

The Sealy PostureTech coil design, supports and conforms to the unique shape of the human back and body as it moves through the night with exacting precision - a bed for everyone.

'Triple offset' design

Sensory arm

Twice - tempered steel

UNICASED® SURROUND

The UniCased construction is found only in Sealy Posturepedic ensembles and is designed to minimize partner disturbance, provide edge-to-edge comfort and a firm seating edge.

KeyGuard is a durable, specially moulded panel that locks into the innerspring to provide edge support and overall stability. When combined with the Baseplank - multiple channels that cushion the underside of the innerspring - the result is a breakthrough in design and function.

SHOCK ABZZORBER FOUNDATION

The foundation is the base on which surface of your mattress rests. Sealy Posturepedic Shock Abzzorber foundations work with the mattress to absorb the daily shocks and stresses a mattress experiences. If the surface your mattress rests on is not resilient, the mattress components have to work harder and therefore will not last as long.

YOUR PERSONAL COMFORT CHOICE

Differences in the body shape or weight and personal preferences for comfort determine what comfort choice is the right one for you.

Whether you prefer a firmer or a softer mattress you should consider the following:

If the mattress is excessively firm, cardio-vascular circulation may be inhibited and pressure points may result in causing tossing and turning. This may result in a lighter, uneven sleep.

A mattress that is too soft and is not supportive may cause the lower part of the body to sink excessively and therefore puts the spine out of alignment, resulting in muscular tension and an aching back in the mornings.

Sealy produces the following comfort levels that will provide you with the ideal balance between correct support and the comfort option of your choice.

ULTRA PLUSH ULTIMATE SOFTNESS: comfort layers mould and conform with deep down correct support

PLUSH RICH SOFTNESS: comfort layers cushion the transition to support

CUSHION FIRM CUSHIONING COMFORT: medium feel comfort layers combined with firm support

FIRM FIRM: combining firm comfort with correct support
